Thank you again, Don and Carlos. Here's the typos I found, corrected in red. Will have the corrected version recorded whenever you say so, as well as any other changes you need. I'm attaching the word document that has all these changes made in it. In the final word version, I made the lines break where they made most sense, so as not to separate a direction (e.g. S) from its coordinates (e.g. 32 41 42). I was very careful, double-checking this against the description on the survey.
